

Diabolitarianism by Joseph D. Smith

Diabolitarianism is the belief that the spirit is external, rather than internal; the spirit is outside of us, and around us, rather than inside of us. There is one big spirit, rather than several individual spirits, although several separate perspectives are still possible.

Diabolitarianism is dedicated to the Public Domain!